Presentation

France University Hospitals – International (FUHI) has then been implemented through « Macron law » in 2015 that allowed French University Hospitals to take participation or to create a subsidiary abroad. FUHI aims at supporting the deployment of international development, expertise and cooperation by the French University Hospitals, in regard to the international actions taken by the French Ministry of Health and the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

FUHI is a private company that organizes actions abroad, in medical and paramedical training, consultancy and audit, participation in health service management. FUHI also enhances and promotes research activities and their outcomes, commercial exploitation of patents and licenses.

Strengthen international attractiveness of French University Hospitals

International showcase for the French University Hospitals, FUHI consolidates their positions in France, Europe and internationally. FUHI then participates to the promotion of French healthcare system across the world.

FUHI proposes a consolidated vision of French public hospital services and enables the coordination and mutualisation of all French University Hospitals resources and assets. FUHI connects our international partners with the most qualified medical and non medical staff among the French University Hospitals (CHUs) that are motivated and available to participate.

Indeed, FUHI is backed by the expertise of many international relations professionals among the CHUs. They form multidisciplinary teams able to meet the needs for consultancy and training for partners all around the world. FUHI ensures relations with the French diplomatic and consular authorities, supervises the production of the teams for the international partner, ensures the administrative and logistical basis of the partnership project.

The teams recruited by FUHI in the CHUs have medical, paramedical, technical and administrative skills, and they focus their expertise on innovation and experience acquired in the CHUs.

A few international projects are currently carried out by FUHI: the creation of a French Nursing School in South-East China, the production of medical and paramedical training videos. Other projects are being studied.
